About FDP

The three-day Faculty Development Program (FDP) on Universal Human Values (Introductory) aims to equip educators with a comprehensive understanding of fundamental human values. Initiated and approved by AICTE (All India Council for Technical Education), the program covers key concepts such as human aspirations, harmony in self, family, society & nature, and methods to integrate these values into educational settings. Through interactive sessions, group activities, and practical exercises, participants will develop skills to facilitate UHV sessions effectively. The FDP also emphasizes assessment and feedback mechanisms to ensure continuous improvement, ultimately fostering a value-based educational environment for students.

Objectives of FDP

The FDP aims to integrate UHV concepts into teaching practices, enhance pedagogical skills, and foster a profound understanding of UHV principles among faculty. It promotes collaborative learning and the sharing of best practices to improve teaching methodologies and the overall educational experience.

Outcomes of FDP

- Exploration of Universal Essence - Draws upon the universal essence of human values and their relevance to personal and professional life.
- Self-Exploration Proposals - Provides structured proposals for self-exploration and personal growth.
- Systematic Study of Harmony - Encourages a holistic understanding of harmony from the individual to the societal and natural levels.
- Understanding Natural Laws - Proposes insights into natural laws and reality in an accessible manner for individual exploration.
- Self-Verification Process - Fosters self-confidence and self-evaluation based on one's Natural Acceptance.
- Value Discovery in Life - Helps faculty member to identify and discern between valuable and superficial aspects of life.
- Recognition of Innate Human Value - Enables faculty members to appreciate the intrinsic value of human beings across all aspects of life, reinforcing their commitment to live accordingly.
